Festive "send-off tea" honors four Valley women

MORE THAN 125 friends gathered at the Flight Road home of Irene Baldwin and her sister, Marjorie Ibsen, to give a festive sendoff to four longtime Valley residents who are moving to Rossmoor Leisure World in Walnut Creek. The four, Dorothy Caton and her mother Mildred Eastman and Bessie Irvin and her sister Nina Freeman,

Village Committee discusses advantages of constructing walkways through Village area

Importance of walkways in Carmel Valley Village was stressed at a meeting of the Village Committee Thursday noon at Rancho Del Monte Country Club.

Pres. Bob Kvenild showed a drawing of a suggested walk along the south side of Carmel Valley Rd. between the telephone building and the entrance road to the Village Center, at the Phillips 66 gas station.

He revealed that the county has agreed to finance rolled asphalt curbs for the road-side of the walkways and a decomposed granite base for the walkways. Private financing would be required for a redwood inner edge of the proposed walks and a two-inch asphalt topping.

Walks of decomposed granite only were vetoed by the county, Kvenild said, because experience with this type in Palo Alto indicated they didn't last during winter rains and became hazardous from holes.

8 FEET WIDE

The proposed walks would be eight feet wide, four feet on the county right-of-way and four on private property.

Elaine Fosso of the Chatter Box Cafe expressed fear that a sidewalk in front would reduce adjacent parking area. She added that Ted R. Hunter, owner of the property, is planning to eliminate an old garage and another small building on the property and to encircle the restaurant with a driveway, which would relieve the parking situation there.

Kvenild pointed out that walkways are only in the preliminary discussion stage and that the Village Committee doesn't intend to push for anything which would injure a business.

The phone company has agreed to finance walkways past its building, if others in the block go along, he added.

FOOT TRAFFIC

Citing eight basic needs for Carmel Valley Village, Lou Gardner emphasized the importance of walkways connecting stores.

"Foot traffic is a key factor in the value of business property," he commented, pointing out that this has helped boost the front-foot value of Carmel business property to probably the highest of any town of its size in the entire country.

Carmel Valley is getting more tourists, Gardner said, which spotlights the importance of providing walkways to stimulate foot traffic in the Village. "Now they can't walk over 100 feet through the Village without exposing themselves to traffic hazards or, often, puddles."

He urged that sidewalks be required with approval for all new business structures.

Mrs. Joan Bennett and Gardner reported on the Village Committee's tree-planting program which they headed during February and March at a cost of $400 for the beautification project. Mrs. Mae Youngberg accepted chairmanship of the tree-planting project for the Village for April, for which an additional $150 has been allocated.

The CV Garden Club has volunteered to assist with the program by suggesting kinds of trees and locations for planting by the Village Committee, Kvenild said.

The Village Committee agreed to back Henry J. Blend of the Phillips 66 station in his request to the county for alleviation of danger on Carmel Valley Rd. there during rainy weather. He said that cars often skid out of control because of a river of water which runs across the road.

The Committee volunteered $25 to the CV Youth Organization to help finance its recent Easter egg project, Kvenild announced.

Little League tryouts

Little League tryouts will be held on Saturday morning, beginning at 10 a.m., at the new Little League field.

Doyt Early succeeds Jones as Community Center Pres.

Doyt Early was elected president of the Community Center Board, replacing Robert T. Jones, at the annual meeting Thursday.

Two new board members, Mrs. Earle Wilsey and Bob Hebert, were elected to fill the vacancies created by the resignation of Mrs. Phyllis Crockett and Jones.

Mrs. Crockett has served a total of nine years on the board and Bob has just completed a three-year term.

A vote of thanks was given to both the outgoing president and the veteran board member. Mrs. Wilsey was elected secretary, a job she had held during a previous board term.

Ginnie Drew was elected vice president and George Clifford was named as treasurer for the second year.

FINANCIAL REPORT

A financial report given by George Clifford presented a picture of accomplishment in spite of the fact that membership and donations were down over a year ago. As of March 31, there was a balance of $1,187.37 with outstanding expenses of $1191.35, $500 of which is a note at Bank of America and $491.35 of which is the county property tax.

The proposed budget for 1967-68 totaled $5,500 with anticipated membership and donation revenue totaling $3,000. Returns from the sur tax at the swimming pool will provide approximately $1,400 of the budget. Clifford explained that any income over the expected monies will be expended for furniture replacement, landscaping the entrance and alterations required on the building by fire and building codes.

A report on the usage of the Community Center Building by Barbara Blevens shows that 30 organizations had met during the year with a total of approximately 9,598 persons utilizing the facilities.

SWIMMING POOL

In her report on the year's income and attendance at the swimming pool, Phyll Crockett stated that the daily attendance increased by 1/4 to 1/3 after the bath house opened.

A total of 5,953 recreational swims had been enjoyed by Valley kids during the summer. Hopefully, the pool will be open by the Memorial Day weekend, according to Mrs. Crockett, and there will be little turnover of staff. However, there will probably be only seven weeks of swim lessons instead of eight this year.

Plans are continuing to try to grade and utilize the triangle of land which joins the Tulare County School property with the Community Center property. With the contiguous land use, there is an insurance advantage and the school would like to see it as a picnic area. The CUSD and the Center Board must get together on the grading and landscaping which would also increase the property value.

Jeff Wright, director of the Carmel Valley Youth Organization reported a paid membership of 65-75 for the first year of operation. He said that youngsters in the 13-16 year bracket predominate. Out of the group, he added, is a dedicated crew of about 15 or 20 who are always on hand to work or make suggestions.

YOUTH REPORT

He said that the long-range prospects look good and that, although he couldn't give total credit to the CVYO, there has been a 60% reduction in juvenile delinquency in the Valley over the past year, while other Peninsula areas had risen.

It was brought up by members attending the meeting that it has become absolutely necessary to get more Valley residents interested in working on committees for the board. It has been suggested that there be a subsidiary group or auxiliary to the 10-man board to assist, since the business of the Community Center has increased substantially in recent years.

Higher density asked for proposed Noto hospital, committee to study

Permits, appeals and denials have marked the history of the proposed convalescent hospital which Dr. Joseph Noto desires to build on 16 acres on Schulte Road.

At last Wednesday's Planning Commission meeting, Noto, whose permit has expired, asked for a renewal with a provision for 160 rooms. This was a change from the original permit which had allowed 160 beds.

The request was referred to a committee of PlanCom members made up of Dr. Ed Marcucci, Keith Evans and Leon Stutzman. Both Dr. Marcucci and Evans stated that they were against any increase in density, and planning director Ed Demars reiterated his opinion that the residential area was not suitable for a hospital. The Lower Valley Advisory Board and the Mid-Valley Property Owners Association confirmed their earlier stands against the facility.

The committee will report its recommendations on May 10.

ORIGINAL PERMIT

Originally, in June 1965, Noto had asked for a 50-bed hospital which eventually would be increased to 160 beds when sanitary problems such as water supply and sewage disposal were solved.

PlanCom recommended denial of this original permit but (Cont. on pg. 20)

Track being rebuilt, Padres take 3rd

Morale is up with trackmen at Carmel High, for their swampy track is about to be salvaged with drain tile and a new surface of decomposed granite, crushed brick and clay.

"Our home meets this spring will be at MPC, 'because the construction won't be completed in time this season," Coach Bob Walthour said. "In spite of having no practice on a real track except during meets, the boys have a lot of spirit and are doing fine."

Carmel came through with a 3rd out of six teams in the recent Peninsula Invitational meet, which Seaside won and Monterey took 2nd.

Among the outstanding Carmel performers cited by Coach Walthour were: John Jensen, whose 1st place of 52.9 in the 440 was a meet record; Bill Swift, tied for 4th in the high hurdles with 17.04; Kim Schaurer, 2nd in the mile with 4.46;

Gary Kelley, a sophomore, whose second in discus of 152' 3/4" set a school record; Jack Argust, 3rd in shot put with 45' 10"; Doug Updike, another coming sophomore, with 11'6" in pole vault; and Robert Weldon, 3rd in broad jump with 20'7".

The local team was 3rd in the mile relay and included Tom Crow, Robert Weldon, John Jensen and Ted Forbes.

Carmel's lightweights placed 5th in the meet. Rick Roebeck, a freshman, was the standout, taking thirds in the 100-yard dash and the 220. Bryon Shadwell did nicely, 3rd, in the 880.

This Friday Carmel travels to King City and Tuesday to San Lorenzo Valley.

Lightweight swimmers win 2

Carmel High lightweight swimming team sank Live Oak 44-42, for the first time in history in an exciting meet there last Wednesday. The varsity went down 81-13.

Friday the lightweights smeared Pacific Grove 64-19, while the varsity took another loss.

Star of the lightweights is Bob Horn, who promises to be the top diver in the league.

Carmel swimmers next week meet Gilroy Wednesday and Monterey Friday, both meets away.

League finals will be in the Carmel High pool April 29, with both Carmel and Pacific Grove co-hosts.

Cypress Swim Club to hold audition

Potential new members may audition for the Cypress Swim Club at 5:30 p.m. Thursday of this week, and Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings next week at the Carmel High School pool.

Entrance requirements have been relaxed a little this year to permit any interested girl between the ages of 9 and 16 with average swimming skills to join.

Carmel winners in singles were Joe Ward, 6-4, 6-0, and Jim Hinwood, 6-4, 6-3. Losing close three-game series were Carmel's Rich Oleson and Jim Buzaid. Steve Feldes went down in two straight games.

Carmel took 2 out of 3 double matches. Newton and Buzaid downed Sidoni and Jones and Ward and Hinwood also won for Carmel. Oleson and Steve Mason lost their doubles matches.

Friday the Carmel courtmen will travel to Live Oak, and Saturday at 10 a.m. they play Hollister here. Next Tuesday Carmel meets Palma also on the home courts.

Rescue the pedestrian

Have pity on the poor pedestrian. That's the new motto of the Carmel Valley Village Committee, which is trying to rescue pedestrians in the Village.

For they are definitely worth protecting. Foot traffic, it was pointed out at last week's meeting of the Village Committee, is a key reason for Carmel's business success. All the strollers there have helped boost the front-foot price of property in Carmel to "the highest for a town of that size in the country."

So it's not just the health of the walking shoppers that's involved, but the economic welfare of the property owners and store operators as well. At the moment hardy hikers about the Village run the risk of twisted ankles while climbing along the road and of being zapped by cars.

Chairman Bob Kvenild of the Village Committee hopes to start modestly with a piece of walkway as "Example A." We agree with his hope that the interest generated by this initial walkway will be contagious and, step by step, the Village will come by walkways, encouraging strolling shoppers.

There, of course, is some nervousness that parking may be reduced by walkways. If so, it should be warning that additional steps are needed to guarantee adequate parking.

The county is now requiring adequate off-street parking for approval of new commercial buildings. Required, too, should be sidewalks or, at least the more informal walks as contemplated by the Village Committee.

These would be of asphalt, between a rolled curb on the street side and redwood headers on the outside. The county road department is helpfully offering to provide the curb, plus widening the road's paving to the curb, and a rock base for the walkways.

Village property owners would be wise to take advantage of the county's excellent offer to upgrade their property. Walkways would be a sound investment for all concerned.

With the Village Committee taking the lead in a valuable project like walks, perhaps next it would have the courage to tackle the touchy subject of a more useable road through the Village.

If this problem isn't worked out locally, the county is prepared to widen the present road to four lanes straight through the Village, when traffic eventually requires. So said County Road Commissioner Bruce McLain after talking to the CV Chamber of Commerce last month. He pointed out that the county already has sufficient right-of-way to do this if necessary.

This, of course, is a red-hot potato which tends to pop up into sight now and then. Any real planning for the Village requires agreement on an eventual through road.

Marine Corps doctor reports

Vietnamese village 'pacification' program slow but not totally bleak

Editor's Note: Mr. and Mrs. A.E. Caldwell of Carmel Valley Manor recently received a letter from their grandson, Dr. Peter Caldwell, a First Lieutenant in the Marine Corps, serving his second year in Vietnam. They felt it was so timely (March 21) and interesting that other Outlook readers might be interested in sharing it. Photos were taken in the village of Daé Lóc.

Dr. Caldwell spoke of the operative work done on the children in the villages. "... We are keeping the boys at the Naval Hospital well supplied with civilian elective cases and it's a good deal for all concerned... the only limiting factor is that sometimes, due to lots of casualties, these operations must be postponed... after getting them in (plus the trauma of leaving village and parents, sometimes for the first time), we have to take them back without anything to show for it. Fortunately this doesn't happen too often and most of the kids don't mind coming back as they know where they are going and what to expect."

Dr. Caldwell referred to an article from the Saturday Evening Post on Vietnam which he described as a fairly accurate appraisal of the situation.

He said, "The 'pacification' program is going to be very lengthy and eventually must be completed by the Vietnamese government. However, the picture is not quite as bleak as you might be led to believe."

"... The biggest, or at least one of the biggest, problems is coordinating the efforts of the Vietnamese village and district administration, the Marines and the Army advisor teams who are located in each district. We attempt to get all projects organized and pushed through Vietnamese channels just to improve the ef-

The Rhyming Philosopher

Last night I took flight on a fanciful wing
To a world out in unexplored space,
Which seemed at the time a most practical thing
To a news man from earth's sordid place.

I landed on carpets of daisies and gold,
Where folks without fuss or pretension,
Who seemed neither young nor amazingly old,
Said, "Welcome to you, Fourth Dimension."

I asked, "Where's your leader, your chief or your king,
And where can I buy me some dinner?"
They answered, "We never achieved such a thing,
Nor eat to get fatter or thinner."

So having no leader they needed no wealth,
No money, no taxes, no treasures.
No eating or drinking impeded their health,
Contented with work and their pleasures.

No public officials or drones to support,
They needed no boss, and they meant it.
And just as I reached for the phone to report—
I fell out of bed—I had dreamt it!

In Short

THE STORY of the week comes from the opening of Will's Fargo Restaurant when a young man disclosed about 9:30 that he was visiting the Valley and had been so pleased to discover that we had a bank that was open on Saturday because he was traveling south to Santa Barbara and needed to cash a check.

Thinking he was entering a branch of Well's Fargo Bank he went into Will's about 5:30 Saturday night... when last heard of, he had helped all the many other first nighters close the restaurant at 2 a.m. He said it was the nicest bank he'd ever been in.

P.S. He also got his check cashed!

IT WILL BE a month or two now before the report will be out from the Army Engineers on Carmel River and its flood problems. This was the word from Lawrence Priddy, Jr., writer from their San Francisco technical liaison office, who was gathering photos here last Friday for use in the three different printed pieces under preparation in connection with the report. He commented that their files go clear back to 1938 on Carmel River flooding.

DOMINOS has become one of the most popular forms of recreation in the past few years. At Hacienda Carmel the first annual Casa Lobos Domino Tournament was completed last week with eight two-man teams in the semi-finals. Two teams emerged and played to a tie. In the play-off the next day, Paul J. Black and Bruno Stiller edged into first place over Milton Kennedy and Dr. William Hughes... with a one point difference! They play pretty close to the belt at Hacienda.

ficiency and help them become more self-reliant, develop confidence and get the bugs out of their own system.

"Then, where necessary, we move in and supply technical assistance and supplies where none are available. The goals are not to completely take over and do the job for them but to supply the necessary aid so that each project can be completed using Vietnamese resources as much as possible. Ultimately, then when we leave they will be able, hopefully, to do the job on their own. If we do everything, they just sit back and let us do it for them—plus, of course, when they invest energy and material in a building, for example, if the VC (Viet Cong) try and destroy it, the situation is quite different than if it happens to be a structure built entirely by Americans. The VC are also much more reluctant to damage primarily Vietnamese-constructed buildings as these acts do little to help the VC image—as the friends of the villagers... they defeat their own propaganda efforts."

Parents warned of teen narcotics use

A letter is being prepared by the administration of the Carmel Unified School District to acquaint parents of the narcotics' problem among students in our area.

The problem is a real one, Superintendent Harris Taylor told the CUSD Board of Education last week. The extent to which it has developed is not known, but it is of sufficient danger to warrant a consultation called two weeks ago between Dr. Taylor and the Monterey County Sheriff's Dept.

The question of narcotics use by local teenagers was raised after Carmel High senior Doug Adams told the board that out of the 200 seniors' pictures in the year book, he could pick out 125 that had used marijuana and/or LSD.

Cookery

Corner

Featuring the favorite recipes of local cooks.

Korean recipes which will test your enthusiasm for culinary adventure were the result of an interview with SUNZAH PARK who directs the choir at the Carmel Valley Community Chapel where her husband, Seung Paik Park, plays the organ.

Sunzah was born in Korea, went to China with her Presbyterian missionary parents at the age of 6 and came to America at 18 to attend Whitworth College in Spokane. She went on to earn a Master's degree in sacred music at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo. Through the years she corresponded with Mr. Park whom she had met in China. They were wed in 1958 in San Francisco and he is now a teacher at the Defense Language Institute.

Sunzah's folks are back in Korea now and she has two children of her own. They are John, 7 and Anna, 4. Sunzah likes to treat her American children to Oriental cooking now and then. She says the ingredients aren't hard to find in Monterey.

KIMCHI

(Korean pickled vegetables)

Kimchi may be purchased in gallon or pint jars if you don't feel like tackling this recipe. Much of it is prepared in Hawaii and some from Los Angeles. In Korea it is the only way for many farmers to preserve vegetables to last through the long cold winter. It can be made with a variety of ingredients but the chief one is always the crinkly-leaved "Chinese" cabbage which is much sweeter and crunchier than our native cabbage.

Here's how Sunzah Park goes about making her recipe of kimchi:

Cut into two-inch diagonal pieces (chop stick size) one large Chinese cabbage, two long white radish turnips and sprinkle with salt. Set aside. Mix together 6 cloves minced garlic, 4 or 5 minced green onions (using greens and all), a dash of Accent, 1/4 cup ground red pepper and 2 teaspoons sugar. Stir into the sliced vegetables and spoon into glass jars. Include all the juice which has come from the salted cabbage and turnips and add enough water to cover. Cover jars tightly. Set outdoors (out-of-the-sun) to ripen for three days in winter and two in summer.

Koreans traditionally sink a barrel-full of kimchi into the ground before it freezes in November. During the winter they remove the cover from time to time to dip into their "well" of pickled vegetables.

KALBI

(Korean style barbecued short ribs)

Score to the bone 6 lbs. of lean short ribs which have been tenderized overnight. Make a marinade of 1 1/2 cups soy sauce, 3 green onions minced, 3 T. sesame oil (no other oil will do), half cup sugar and 6 cloves minced garlic. Marinate ribs in sauce for at least 2 hours. Broil over charcoal for 8 to 10 minutes.

Sunzah also uses this sauce to marinate sliced chicken or thinly sliced sirloin tips before broiling in the oven and then serves the sauce over steamed rice.

BEAN SPROUT SALAD

Boil 1 pkg. bean sprouts in water for not more than five minutes. Drain and rinse in cold water. Mix 1 teaspoon sesame oil, 1 teas. vinegar, a few drops soy sauce, salt to taste, 1 clove minced garlic and 1 minced green onion. Toss together and serve.

VERNON HURD of Carmel Valley recently received a plaque in appreciation of his six years as president of the Community Hospital board of trustees. Hurd's successor to the presidency is Dr. A. Carol McKenney, of Pebble Beach, emeritus professor of clinical medicine of Stanford Medical School.

Branson speaks to CVCPOA

Supervisor Willard Branson spoke at the recent meeting of the Carmel Valley Commercial Property Owners Association in the Community Center Building, his main subject being the proposed realignment and widening of the Carmel Valley Road from the mouth of the Valley to the Farm Center.

This organization requested that Supervisor Branson attempt to get this work back into the budget. In order to get it in the budget, it must be done on or before the August meeting of the board of supervisors.

Discussion was also held on the future plans of road realignment and widening from the Farm Center to the Los Laureles Grade.

Chamber to meet

The Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce will hold its next board meeting at the CV Golf and Country Club on April 12.

The luncheon meeting will begin at 12 noon and members who wish to make reservations are asked to call Mrs. Jack Black, chamber secretary, by Monday, April 10.

Chiropractor opens CV office

Patricia Gynth H. May, D.C. is opening an office for the practice of chiropractic in the Cummings building on Del Fino Pl. in Carmel Valley Village.

A graduate of the four-year Palmer College of Chiropractic, Davenport, Iowa, she practiced in Pacific Grove for two years. She also attended Monterey High School and Monterey Peninsula College.

She has done postgrad work at Cleveland Chiropractic College, Los Angeles, and Grostic Research Center, Ann Arbor, Mich.

A Valley resident, Dr. May lives on Holman Rd. with her husband Robert, a Borden's Co. employee, and their two children, Robert Jr. and Nancy Kim, both students at Tulare City School.

VALLEY MEDIC ADVISES YEARLY CANCER CHECK-UP

By James Short, M.D.

(Many verbal questions have been received as a result of these articles on health. Send them along, but better still write them out. My memory sometimes fails me. Write c/o The Outlook or to me at 103 Robles del Rio, telephone 659-4223.)

FINGER NUMBNESS

A reader states that she has been having numbness in the ring and little fingers of her left hand over a period of several years when reading in bed. This is not too unusual. The location of this symptom indicates that the trouble is in the ulnar nerve, which supplies the little finger and half the ring finger. Neuritis or posture, putting pressure or strain on the nerve, is the probable cause. Heat treatment and a supporting pad while reading may help.

CANCER OF THE PROSTATE

A reader asks about cancer of the prostate and its management.

The prostate is a firm, partly muscular, glandular organ situated at the base of the bladder just in front of the rectum. It produces a milky, alkaline solution for the support and preservation of the sperm cells. Cancer of the prostate is one of the most common tumors of men, particularly after the age of forty. In the later decades, it is reported that microscopic cancer may be present in as many as 40% of all prostates, but no more than 25% of these will give trouble.

The incidence rate of cancer of the prostate has remained practically the same since 1945. The cause is unknown. However, the rate of cure has increased rapidly since it was discovered over twenty years ago that cancer of the prostate is largely androgen-dependent. This means that this cancer requires testosterone (or similar male sex hormones) in order to develop, increase in size, or spread to other organs. In advanced cases, castration is often performed in order to eliminate most of the male hormone. However, this is not done routinely. Much the same effect can be obtained by the use of the female sex hormone (estrogen). This is sometimes called a chemical prostatectomy. Surgery, X-ray, and hormone therapy may all be used for this condition. A specialist in urology is the one to decide just what should be done in the individual case.

DISCOVERS THERAPY

Dr. Charles Huggins of Chicago discovered the role of androgen in prostatic cancer. The anti-androgen therapy which he pioneered improved the outlook for cure markedly, so that optimism has replaced pessimism in management. One of my patients had advanced prostatic cancer in 1942. When he died in 1958 of other causes no prostatic tissue could be found. Control had been effected entirely by the use of estrogen (female sex hormone).

What can men do to protect themselves against this common form of cancer? Hard lumps in the prostate, which can easily be felt by the doctor are very suspicious. There is also enlargement of the prostate when cancer is present. However, not all enlarged prostates are cancerous. In fact, most men suffer from some degree of benign enlargement as they grow older. A biopsy (not a difficult procedure) is sometimes required to make the differentiation between a benign and a malignant lesion.

News from Hacienda Carmel

At the March luncheon meeting of the Casa Lobos Club, members enjoyed comments by Lt. J.G. D.M. Cohan, Executive Officer of the Coast Guard cutter Ewing.

Approximately 30 members of the group traveled by chartered bus to visit the Ewing in the hope that weather conditions would permit a short "fun run" into the outside harbor. Weather did not permit—the Coast Guard does not take chances on being away when needed. So, the Ewing remained in harbor, ready to do whatever might be required of the Coast Guard in emergency. More power to them!

Leo Yuckert, chief of the Monterey Airport tower will be the guest speaker for the April 20 Casa Lobos luncheon.

Edwards, Leslie Smith, Donna Davis and Blossom Breuner.

Seven young Japanese business and professional men, sponsored by Rotary International, with the cooperation of the US State Dept., toured Hacienda Carmel recently as part of their study of American schools, churches and adult living facilities.

The young men, ranging in age from 24 to 31 years, were interested in Hacienda Carmel as an example of smaller adult communities. During their tour they had previously visited several large facilities.

When they were asked the reasons for making this tour and study, they commented, "We are changing our way of life in Japan. In the old days, as people grew older they lived with their children. Now we are trying to set up suitable adult living facilities so this pattern can be changed."

They were particularly interested in the small type of operation as against the large ones which are like cities in themselves.

The group climaxed the visit with a luncheon in HC dining room, hosted by president Louis Breuner, Mrs. Elinore Conger, Charles Herschleb and Maurice Norby.

PlanCom OKs 124-unit condominium on 13 acres at Valley mouth, to front on small lake Planning Commission approval was given Wednesday to rezoning of almost 13 acres at the mouth of the Valley, just east of Highway one, adjacent to Carmel River and bounded on the north by Rio Road.

A 124 unit condominium development called Carmel

Lago is proposed for the area. Docks, paths, tennis courts and a swimming pool would be included in the plans for the M shaped building which would front on a small lake.

The 12.9 acre parcel was rezoned into a special treatment category which would require a use permit for the development proposed by Carmel Rancho Inc.

The proposal had been given an affirmative recommendation by the Lower Valley Advisory Committee and the county planning staff.

A flood wall is planned to protect the living units which would be built within the flood plain area of the Carmel River. The buildings themselves will be designed to be about a dozen feet above the level of the lake, according to engineer Carl Hooper, who was hired by Carmel Rancho, Inc.

R. Adm. (ret) and Mrs. G.B.G. Hall of Country Club Drive welcomed house guests from San Diego, R. Adm. (ret) and Mrs. Harvey Burden, who spent two days of the Holy Week in the Valley before the foursome drove to San Francisco for the remainder of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Willis of 99 Ford Rd. enjoyed having their grandchild, Jody, 1 1/2, who was accompanied from Travis Air Force Base by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Willis. Roger who has completed three years of duty as a medic has received his overseas assignment and will be leaving June 15 for a base near Bangkok, Thailand. With his family he will return to the Valley May 10th to spend his 30-day leave visiting his family and many friends on the Peninsula.

Hearing a rumor that the Easter Bunny was running a bit behind schedule this year, Mrs. Frank Edwards invited the neighborhood children to her home for a luncheon followed by an afternoon of coloring eggs on the patio. Sharing the fun on Aliso Rd. were Joe and Vince Sturgills, Mrs. Tom Bordonaro, and son, Tommy, Mrs. Y. Azcarate and children, Danny, Laurie, and Donald, Mrs. Larry Feldman and Michael, and the Edwards children, Frank, Susan and Jonathan.

Rear Adm. (ret) and Mrs. C.E. Dickinson of Horizon Way began their Easter week with an overnight stop in Santa Barbara to pick up their son, John, who is enrolled at U.C.S.B. Continuing south to their former home, Coronado, the Dickinson family spent five wonderful days with their many friends. John returned to the Valley with his parents until last Wednesday when his mother returned him AND his surfboard to the Santa Barbara campus in time for afternoon classes.

Busy with preparations to return to her home in Manchester, England is Mrs. Anne Goodwin who has spent the last three months as the guest of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ward of Holman Road. It was the fifth trip to our country for the delightful visitor and her second visit to California. During Easter week with her daughter, Helen, she toured Hollywood and spent two days in Pasadena with a friend, another native of England.

"An old oak leaf cluster" to Jerry Winters and Sioux Scott whose interest and efforts once again helped to make a holiday a memorable one for the patients at the Carmel Convalescent Hospital. Pet of the week

This was Suzie before she received a shampoo, brushing and trim (now she can see again) from the gentle hands of George Leland, a past president of the SPCA and the retired owner of a Carmel pet shop.

Mr. Leland volunteers his services because the Animal Shelter can't afford to send their little waifs to canine beauty parlors. Suzie took three patient hours of his time and it did wonders for her ego, as well as her looks.

She should now be sitting on a cushion in somebody's parlor; the concentration camp-type background of the photo is utterly out of character as a setting for such a pretty, well-behaved poodle.

But Suzie is grateful for the care she is getting from Humane Officer Gwen May and her helpers, until someone comes to 2099 David in Monterey to take her home with them. (Adrian d'Angelo photo)

a tree with miniature Easter baskets surrounded by gay cut-outs of flowers and bunnies . . . and to the Carmel Valley Lionettes, assisted by Bowers Pharmacy, whose Easter basket contained a small gift for each patient at the hospital.

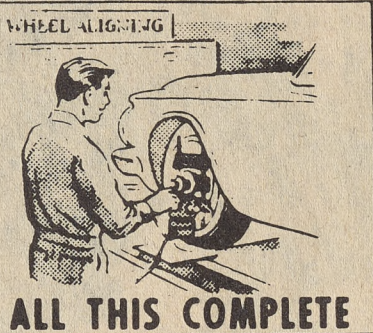

A vacation trip of a little different nature was made by Mr. and Mrs. William Mallek of Miramonte Road who drove to Eugene, Ore., in quest of housing. Bill, who has served as principal of Tulare City for the past 11 years and Phyllis, ninth grade biology teacher at Portola Junior High School in Seaside, are taking a year's sabbatical leave and will enter the U. of O. fall term.

Mrs. Robert Schwarz entertained with a spring luncheon at her home at 70 Rancho Rd. last week. Enjoying the luncheon and the drive up the Valley were Mr. and Mrs. George Bratton and Mr. and Mrs. Harry DeVega of Carmel and Mr. and Mrs. J.J. Warner of Carmel Highlands.

Springtime has come to Druid Hills Ranch whose decorative touches on their stone entry are always such pleasing eye catchers to passing motorists. Hundreds of daffodil bulbs planted on the Carmel Valley Road hillside and along the drive into the ranch have started to bloom in the lush setting of blue lupine on the surrounding hillsides.

'South Pacific' rolls in at NPGS

The spring production of the Navy Postgraduate School's Little Theatre is traditionally a musical. Opening on Friday, April 7, the Little Theatre will present four performances of "South Pacific" as this year's offering.

The story of Ensign Nellie Forbush falling in love with French plantation owner Emile de Becque made famous the Broadway performances of Mary Martin and Ezio Pinza.

Cast as the vivacious and energetic Nellie is Joyce Koontz, a Navy wife who has performed before audiences since childhood. Playing opposite her as Emile de Becque is Larry Sparks, recreation officer at the PG School and a retired Army officer.

Other casting includes Bill Hoffman, a student in electronics, as Lt. Gable; Gary Crosby, Commanding officer of the Coast Guard cutter Ewing, as Billis; Mary Janzen, wife of a PG School professor as Bloody Mary; and Ginger Grossman, a student at Seaside High School, as Liat.

Harry Rudenshiol, head of the drama dept. at Seaside High School, directs the show, with Richard Sheere, also a Seaside High teacher, as musical director.

Dale Lefler, who has done more than forty shows on the Peninsula, is choreographer.

Following the April 7 open-

"HAPPY TALK" couple are Ginger Grossman and Bill Hoffman. They portray an island girl and the lieutenant who loves her in the Navy Postgraduate School's production of Rodgers and Hammerstein's ever-popular musical, "South Pacific."

ing, "South Pacific" will play on April 8, 14 and 15. Reservations may be made by calling 375-5600 and tickets are on sale at Harnish Music Co. in Carmel, Abinante's in Monterey and Gadsby Music Co. in Salinas.

Ron Mitchell to book shows for White Oaks

Ron Mitchell, remembered by many Valley residents as business manager of White Oaks Theatre, has been re-hired as tour booking agent for the theatre.

In 1966, the children's theatre productions were performed on tour 82 times to over 17,000 youngsters. Mitchell expects to more than double the record set in 1966.

He will make his headquarters in Los Angeles where he has been residing since September and spend the first week of every month in Carmel Valley.

Pack trips highlight Valley Boy Scout activities

TARGET PRACTICE with .22 caliber rifles was part of the training on the Easter Week Boy Scout hike. (Counter-clockwise) Chris Hansen, Vince Frumkin, Kurt Ladendorf, Steve Robertson, Bill Yates, Tim Tucker, Manuel Mancebo, and Assistant Scoutmaster Richard Brunner.

Scouts tell of adventure

BELOW — The Scouts had to go around a landslide that had partially blocked the trail.

During Easter vacation, a group of boys from Troop 127 took a hike into the mountains in back of Los Padres Dam. With the boys were Scoutmaster Bob Ray and Assistant Scoutmaster Richard Brunner.

Before taking off, they picked up rubbish in the Village and cleaned up the Community Center Building. They then proceeded by car through Prince's Camp up to Los Padres Dam. Destination with packs on backs was Carmel River Camp. The first thing they noticed was the view, ranging from farmland to reservoir to mountains. But this was soon blocked by trees, most of, if not all of, which were oak. To break the monotony of oak were many small dangling flowers and the beautiful yucca.

Approximately two miles later they came to Danish Creek which was very high from the previous rains. Some crossed with boots on, others crossed without boots so there was a break on the other side to change to dry socks.

From there on it was clear hiking until they reached the Carmel River. The river was far too high and exceedingly fast, so the Scouts set up camp right there,

After the tents were set up and lunch, Mr. Ray and Mr. Brunner conducted a class in firearm safety. Then a short firing range was set up. Everyone had turns shooting the .22 caliber rifles. Later, each Scout had a turn shooting a pistol.

A little later they called it quits, fixed and cooked their dinners and later still, slumbered off into a deep sleep.

Morning came all too soon but the sun didn't hit us directly until about 10 o'clock, because we were in a deep canyon. A little time was spent at the firing range after breakfast, then the remaining hours before departure were spent on advancement. Axes were honed; semaphore flags waved and Scouts stalked each other and followed trail signs. In the first aid department, Scouts were seen bandaged and wearing splints.

About 3 o'clock the Scouts left camp and hiked at their own speed. They crossed Danish Creek as a troop and then continued at their own individual speeds. At 5 o'clock all arrived at the cars, loaded up and headed home, glad to be off their feet, but sad they couldn't stay longer.

Nineteen Boy Scouts left early Saturday morning, Feb. 4, for a troop weekend at Yosemite. After reaching the National Park, they hiked in 1 1/2 miles to Camp #4 and when camp had been set up, they went on to Badger Pass.

Sledding on inner tubes, ice-skating, cooking, all sorts of play in the snow, a few minor accidents (among others your writer getting lost), and a bit of car trouble made the whole weekend a real adventure.

Mr. Ray, Mr. Brunner, Mr. Massaglia and eighteen boys from Troop 127 and a guest from Pacific Grove met with full packs at 4 a.m. Saturday morning at the Community Center. Everyone was on time. Within 15 minutes, the gear was in the cars and the boys with it and the caravan was on its way.

After four rest stops on the way up, the troop reached Yosemite about mid-morning. It was almost noon before the boys reached Camp #4.

MEDIA EXPLORED

ANNA BURGESS has two works in an invitational exhibition at the Laguna Beach Art

Association Gallery entitled "Media Explored 1967."

The dates are April 1 through 30 and the public is welcome to attend. But local admirers of exciting contemporary design need travel only as far as the Origins shop in the Carmel Valley Village plaza to enjoy Mrs. Burgess' work any weekday in the year.

Her works in the Laguna show are a hanging screen with feathers in the weave and a construction combining woven areas with forms of carved and painted wood, embossed metal and fur and feather accents.... which will give you an idea of the sort of thing she does.

M.P.M.A.

A one-man show of photographs by Gene Antisdel, a San Jose student of industrial design, is this month's offering at the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association gallery.

The photographic designs, however, are not industrial in nature. The show includes "everything from Bixby Bridge to a nude" to quote MPMA curator Stephen Brown.

Antisdel is a member of the "Image Group," comprised of seven San Francisco Bay Area photographers who have been widely exhibited in this country and abroad.

TO SANTA CRUZ

Five artists who are representing this area in a state-wide show at the Santa Cruz Art League Galleries are:

Helen Barker, James Peter Cost, Beatrice M. Wheelock and Mildred Schmidtman, all of Carmel, and Yuen Sam Lim of Pacific Grove.

The exhibit will continue through April 30.

CARMEL FOUNDATION

Oils and watercolors by MILDRED SCHMIDTMAN are being shown at the Town House, Lincoln and 8th in Carmel. Mrs. Schmidtman is a member of the CAA and the Santa Cruz Art League and has had numerous one-man shows throughout the Northwest, Hawaii and Mexico.

POINTS OF VIEW

A group of artists are presenting points of view from "traditional to psychedelic" at the New Monterey Neighborhood Center, Lighthouse and Dickman from 2 to 5 p.m. daily except weekends and Thursday.

Polytech students make dean's list

Three local students have been named to the Dean's List for the fall quarter at California State Polytechnic College in San Luis Obispo.

Russell Allen Gamble of Carmel Valley, an architectural engineering major, and two Carmel students, Darryl Aken, mathematics major, and Marjory Morse, a social sciences major, have made the honors.

Cmdr. and Mrs. George Carlson who with their seven children made their home on Scarlett Road for 18 months have moved on to their next duty station at Valley Forge, San Diego. They left on the 22nd following graduation exercises at the Naval Postgraduate School where George had received his B.A. degree. Two social events honored the Valley couple on their departure. A St. Patrick's Day dinner dance was attended by twenty couples from Section B.A.Z.-5 at the Outrigger on Cannery Row. During the evening fellow officers presented George with an engraved pipe lighter as a memento of his duty in Monterey.

Eighteen wives of the Section gathered at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club to honor Jenny with a farewell luncheon. The guest of honor was presented with an orchid corsage and a silver charm bracelet with a charm of a Monterey cypress tree to help her remember the many friends made during their stay here. Mrs. William Frank Edwards co-hosted the luncheon with Mrs. John Clark.

Friends invited in addition to those from the Section included Mmes. Robert Heavyside, Sara Russo, Frank Sclawy, Lloyd Todd, Fanny Russo, Jo Ann Cutino, Jack Black, Tom Bordonaro, Pat Buffo, Lou Gardner, Ursula King, and Mary Salmari.

Cmdr. (ret) and Mrs. William Stowers were among the spectators who viewed the graduation ceremonies Friday of the basic training classes at Fort Ord. Proudly they watched as their son, Bill Jr., who had served as Platoon sergeant, was named as the most outstanding trainee leader, a member of the top ten per cent of the overall basic training course, and a member of the "450 Club," limited to only those with a better than 450 average in the physical fitness program. Before leaving for eight weeks' advanced training in light infantry, Bill was issued a six-hour pass.

The Stowers home on Country Club Drive was the base for the festivities which followed with a constant stream of family and friends coming and going and enjoying the huge Mexican dinner which Bill had asked his mother to prepare. After Bill's departure the Easter weekend was far from a lonely one for Ruth and Bill who had invited Ted Caldwell to spend his weekend pass with them. Ted, as Bill is also a former member of the Moral Re-Armament group, and currently stationed at Fort Ord.

Arriving the end of the week for a visit with her parents until the tenth of April will be Kathy Harlow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Harlow of 66 Rancho Rd. Kathy, who is a student at Bishop School in La Jolla will enjoy her brief time at home before returning to the flurry of finals and graduation.

Results of the duplicate bridge tournament held during Easter Week by the Valley Bridge Club at the Carmel Valley Community Center listed Mrs. Mary Drobek and Mrs. Mary Angier in first place; E.W. Gravelle and Mr. J.E. Van Laanen in second place and in third place, Mrs. Evelyn Vandervort and her partner, Mrs. Vera Marcolli.

Fashions from Joanne's Boutique and Sportswear shops were featured at the luncheon at Kalisa's on Cannery Row last week where Carol Keith discussed her book on rejuvenation. Many Carmel and Valley residents were in the audience viewing the fashions coordinated by Joanne Sears, which were modeled by Honey Lundin, Barbara Azcarate, Norma Villar, Ann Haesslinger, and Ruth Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Busick of River Road are enjoying a visit with Larry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Verne Busick who are making the Blue Sky Lodge their headquarters during their month's stay from their home in Orleans, Ind. It was six years ago Christmas when the senior Busicks were here last so they are enjoying the opportunity to get acquainted with their growing grandchildren, David, Laura, and Michael who recently celebrated his tenth birthday with a family dinner.

The entire Busick clan is driving to Los Angeles April 2 to celebrate the anniversary of the uncle of Mrs. Busick, Sr.

Nothing ever seems more 'over' to a youngster than a holiday as evidenced by our number five child, a four-year-old boy. After spending much of Monday convincing him that ALL of the eggs had been discovered, and that the Easter Bunny was taking a much-deserved LONG nap, he finally heaved a tremendous sigh of relief and exclaimed: "Oh good, now tomorrow we can put up the Christmas tree!" Not so in the adult world where some of the happiest moments are those spent following a special occasion savoring and reflecting on the treasured hours.

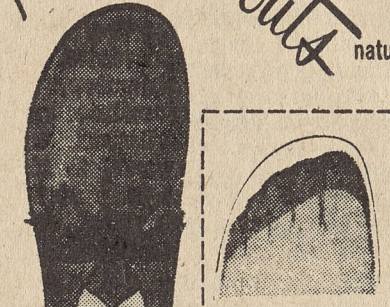

Such as Dr. and Mrs. Richard S. Fraser of Brookdale Drive whose holiday was brightened with the presence of their youngest son, Richard Jr., his wife, Linda, and their daughter, Wendy, an 'almost two-year-old' charmer. The Junior Frasers reside in Petaluma.

Skip Stathes is married

Mr. and Mrs. John Koon announce the marriage of their son, Skip Stathes, to Jo Ann Morrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Morrison of Sacramento. The wedding took place on March 12 in Sacramento.

Mr. and Mrs. Stathes will be making their home in Carmel Valley after April 1. Skip, who has been working at the Hotel Senator in Sacramento, will return to his former position at Rancho del Monte Country Club.

Rudy Bautz tells harrowing tale of post war escape from Czechoslovakia

The Communist guards at the border of Czechoslovakia and Austria looked at the man in the ambulance with the deathly white face and shrank back.

It was the critical moment in Rudy Bautz's escape over the border into Austria in February 1948. Disguised as a Jewish rabbi, he had also smeared his face with tooth paste to make him look ill.

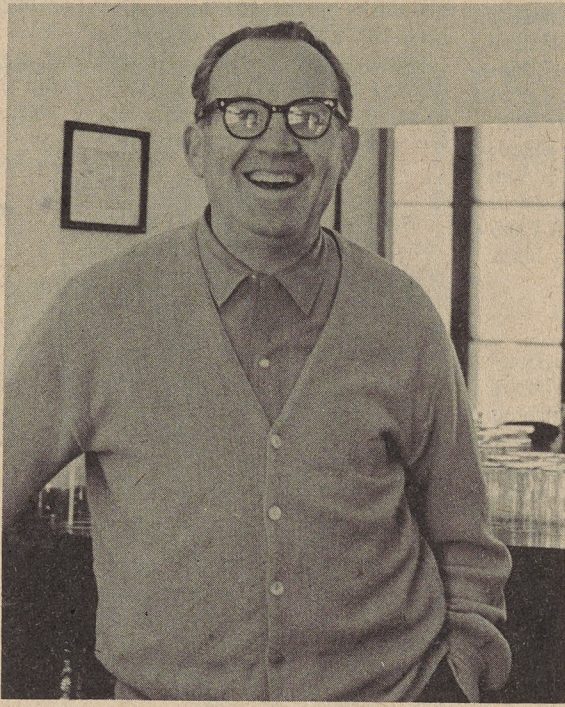

"There were about a dozen of us jammed into one ambulance," he recalled. "The border guards peered in at me and shuddered and waved the ambulance on."

Rudy and his wife Vera are the owner-operators of Carmel Valley's Los Laureles Lodge, which they bought in April 1960. Theirs is a success story of rebuilding their fortune with hard work, for they were lucky to have escaped alive from behind the Iron Curtain, without money or possessions.

Rudy Bautz had been a lawyer in Prague, capitol of his native Czechoslovakia. A graduate of Charles University, founded there in 1346, he was in government service when the Reds took over.

For some time he had been in charge of 104 different police districts in Bohemia, one of three provinces in the country. His last position, just before the Communist coup, had been to select the councils of 12 men each which governed cities of over 5,000 population.

Rudy sent his wife out of the country three months before an opportunity presented itself for him to escape. Although he is not Jewish, it was a Jew whom he had befriended during the German occupation, who in turn helped him escape the new tyrants, the Communists. One night he received word to appear the next morning at a certain place in Prague, to don the rabbi costume as a disguise and jam himself into the escape vehicle, the ambulance.

They rode half the length of the country to cross into Austria near Salzburg. Perhaps because he was among the very first wave of refugees to escape, Rudy was arrested by both the British and then the Americans in their different zones in Austria, who were suspicious of newcomers.

"I had connections in the Vienna city hall," he said, "so I was quickly cleared." Arriving without money, it was 26 months before they managed to leave Austria. He was put in charge of a group of 30 refugees whose minimum sustenance was provided by the International Refugee Agency.

In June 1950, the Bautz's left for Boston, Mass., thanks to the sponsorship of a friend who provided them with $50 and guarantee of work.

Their first jobs were as domestics in a large home in a Boston suburb. After about a year, the estate was sold and, although the new owners wanted them to continue, the Bautz's decided to move on to New York City.

There Rudy got a job in the University Club and Vera worked in a glove factory. Progressing from coatman to elevator operator, Rudy became captain of the bellhops after about a year.

Three evenings a week, he broadcast on the Voice of America to Czechoslovakia. "I wanted to get the truth to the people back there," he explained.

He also filled out an application to teach at the then Army Language School in Monterey, Calif. But he heard nothing for months, so had put the possibility out of his mind.

"We had just bought new furniture and were finally comfortably settled in an apartment, when a telegram came that I could have the job," Rudy laughed. "We debated whether it would be worth it to make such a big change to California about which we knew nothing. But it was winter and we finally decided that it was too cold and dirty in New York."

So in January 1953 they arrived in San Francisco where they were met by the Rev. Karel Vit, who is still an instructor in the Defense Language Institute and is also pastor of Carmel's Unitarian Church in the Round.

"I enjoyed teaching there," Rudy recalled. And with energy to spare, he bought, fixed up and re-sold a number of houses, chiefly in Pacific Grove.

9 1/2 ACRE RESORT

Then came the chance in April 1960 to buy their present Los Laureles Lodge on Carmel Valley Road. They bought the nine-and-a-half acre resort from the Sandy Griffins, now living in France.

The Bautz's take pride in the long history of the property. Originally, it was part of the famous old Don Jose Boronda rancho of 7,000 acres.

From 1895 to 1936 it was a hunting and fishing lodge, operated by Del Monte Properties. Bautz brought out the old register book and pointed out such famous names as B.M. Baruch on Jan. 30, 1904 and Leland Stanford.

Del Monte Properties ran it also as a working ranch, producing milk, butter and eggs and vegetables for Del Monte Lodge.

In 1936 the property was bought by Muriel Vanderbilt Phelps, who used it as a breeding ranch for race horses.

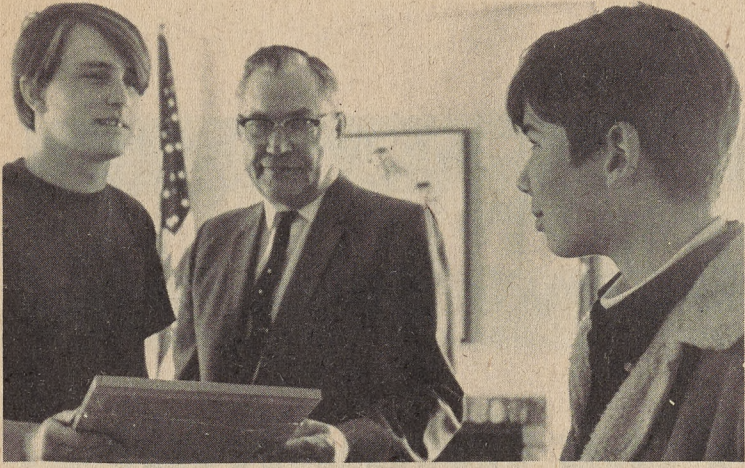

She sold it in 1948 to the Frank and Paul Porters who divided it. The ranch lands behind were subdivided and the lodge in front was converted into the present resort. The stables were made over by Griffin into some of the motel units and the big swimming pool was built.

OLDEST OAK

What is thought to be the oldest oak in the state, about 600 years old, forms a magnificent setting outside a dining room.

The Bautz's have been extra busy recently, preparing for their public opening, which was April 1. A number of the rooms, which can accommodate 60 guests, have been remodeled. They have a staff of about a dozen employees in the summer season.

The tall, friendly host at Los Laureles Lodge, whose accent is only a hint of his arduous journey half way around the world, is understandably one of Carmel Valley's most enthusiastic appreciators.

Boy wins life saving award

A 13-year-old boy being swept out to sea by the heavy tide at the mouth of the Carmel River was about to give up, but did not forget his manners when his rescuer arrived. Gasping for breath and shivering, the youngster said, "Gee, thanks."

Paul Poffenburger, a 17-year-old Carmel high school boy who plunged into the ocean to save the life of his friend, Jimmie Brown, did not expect any further thanks, but Tom Brown, father of the victim, felt some recognition was due the young hero. Through newspaper columns he located the necessary witnesses to the deed, including Carmelita Dow and George Thomson.

Last Friday, March 24, a Certificate of Merit issued by the American National Red Cross and signed by Lyndon B. Johnson and E. Roland Harri-man, was presented to Paul by Carl Bosholm, chapter chairman of the Carmel-by-the-Sea chapter. The presentation was witnessed by the admiring near-victim, Jimmie, and his parents, with several of Paul's friends and members of the Red Cross staff.

The certificate reads "in recognition of services rendered on Jan. 22, 1967 when he rescued James Brown from the water. His immediate action saved the victim's life." Paul also received a small gold pin inscribed "Life Saving Award of Merit." He has a certificate for having completed the Red Cross courses in Water Safety and First Aid.

Clarene Bruno becomes the bride of James Wright

At a ceremony read at noon March 11 in Reno, Nev., Mrs. Clarene Bruno of 20 Village Dr. became the bride of James R. Wright.

The bride chose for her wedding a white knit dress and coat worn with green reptile shoes and bag, and a corsage of small orchids.

Judge William Roy Beeman performed the rites with the bride's brother, Harry R. Duncan of San Francisco serving as best man.

Following a reception and wedding trip to the Villa Roma Hotel in San Francisco, the couple are making their home in an apartment until July when they will move to a house on San Antonio in Carmel.

Making their home with them will be Mrs. Wright's daughter, Lisa, and Mr. Wright's son, Gary.

Mrs. Ida Duncan of Village Dr. is the mother of the bride who is a graduate of the College of California Arts and Crafts in Oakland and Syracuse University. Until coming to the Valley 2 1/2 years ago she was a fashion illustrator in San Francisco. She made many friends while employed at the In and Outdoor shop.

Mr. Wright, a local paint contractor, has been a resident of the Peninsula for 17 years. He attended Sacramento State College and the University of Washington.

How much safety do you want for your money?

Financial safety comes in all shapes and sizes. There are safe investments and risky investments—and ones that are in between. Depending upon how much risk you want to take, your money can be invested in a variety of ways.

Your savings, however, are another thing. This is money you do not want to risk—no matter how safe the investment appears. This is money you want to be able to count on at all times and under all conditions. And when you want your money that safe and that available—you want it in the bank.

WEDDINGS HERALD SPRING TIME Terry Leach of Pacific Grove marries Richard (Rick) Gardner

Kippenes-Koontz rites are held in Valley

Terry Leach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leach of 315 Cypress Ave., Pacific Grove and Richard (Rick) Gardner, son of the Louis Gardners of Carmel Valley returned to school at MPC this week after spending Easter Vacation on a wedding trip to Lake Tahoe.

They were married March 18 at the Church of the Oaks in Del Rey Oaks with Rev. Karel Vit of Carmel's Church in the Round officiating. A family reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

Lorne Leach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Leach of Goleta, was her cousin's only attendant. Ron Guimette of New York, also a student at MPC, was Rick's best man at the simple ceremony which was attended by family members and close friends.

The Rev. Brock officiates at Jones-Nicholas wedding

Janis Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Jones of Robles del Rio, was married to Lowell Nicolaus in an afternoon ceremony at St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church on Saturday, Mar. 11. Lowell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Nicolaus of Sacramento.

Rev. Jim Brock performed the ceremony which was attended by the young couple's immediate families and friends.

Jan's maid of honor was her younger sister, Jackie, and Mike Tingley, a close friend of the groom's, came from Humboldt State College to act as best man. Dwight Jones, Jan's brother, ushered and Joan and Dana, a younger sister and brother, also helped with the wedding.

The young couple met while attending Humboldt College where Jan is now in her second year. Lowell graduated in February and is now on a two-year assignment with the Navy. He will be on sea duty out of San Diego shortly. After finishing the hitch with the Navy he plans to teach in his field of natural sciences or work in conservation.

Jan also is planning to teach after completing her college work and receiving her degree in elementary education.

The bridegroom's parents and his grandmother, Mrs. J.L. Mills, came from Sacramento for the wedding.

Gretha Cecilie Kippenes of Carmel and Ronald Lee Koontz of Carmel Valley were married in a 3 p.m. ceremony on Saturday, March 25 at the CV First Baptist Church. Rev. Ned Holmgren officiated at the services.

Gretha is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arne Kippenes of Carmel Knolls and Ronald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Koontz of Scarlett Road and Carmel Valley Road.

The bride was born in Oslo, Norway, but both young people attended Carmel High School. The groom is in the Marines, stationed at Camp Pendleton, near Oceanside, Calif.

Gretha's gown was of traditional white satin with a lace bodice and a lace and satin train, and she carried white carnations with pink baby roses.

Her bridesmaids, Miss Candy Heavside of Carmel Valley, and Miss Carla Lennox of Monterey, and her maid of honor, Miss Karen Koontz, sister of the groom, wore gowns of pink satin and lace.

Flower girl was Connie May Padgett of Redlands, and ring bearer was Michel Terry of Salinas, both cousins of the groom.

Dan Silveria of King City acted as best man and Ronald's two brothers, Alan and Kris, served as ushers.

Following a reception at the home of the groom, the young couple left on a wedding trip to Southern California. They will make their home at Oceanside.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION TO BE HELD ON THE 18TH DAY OF APRIL, 1967, PERTAINING TO THE ANNEXATION OF "MISSION TRACT II" TO THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that, pursuant to Resolution No. 2401 of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea and to the Annexation Act of 1913, a special election has been called, to be held on the 18th day of April, 1967, in the territory hereinafter described, for the purpose of submitting to the qualified electors residing in said territory the question whether or not the territory shall be annexed to the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, and whether or not the property in said territory shall, after such annexation, be subject to taxation, equally with the property within the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, to pay the entire bonded indebtedness of the city outstanding or authorized at the date of the first publication of this notice.

The Territory is designated and identified as "Mission Tract II" and is described as follows:

ANNEXATION BOUNDARY MISSION TRACT NO. 2

Area partly in First Addition to Mission Tract, partly in Third Addition to Mission Tract and partly in Rio Road, south of and adjoining Carmel-by-the-Sea, Monterey County, California.

Certain real property situate in Monterey County, California, particularly described as follows:

BEGINNING at the northeast corner of Dedication Parcel "A", as said parcel is shown on that certain map entitled, "Third Addition to Mission Tract," etc., recorded in Volume 4 of Cities and Towns at Page 57, Monterey County Records; and running thence along the southerly line of the corporate city limits of Carmel-by-the-Sea and along a line lying 10 feet northerly of the southerly line of Santa Lucia Avenue; thence

(1) S. 71° 22' 10"W., 780 feet, more or less, to an angle point; thence

(2) N. 76° 47' 15"W., 140 feet, more or less, to a point on the projected westerly line of Dolores Street; thence leaving said southerly line of the corporate city limits of Carmel-by-the-Sea and said line lying 10 feet northerly of the southerly line of Santa Lucia Avenue; thence

(3) Southerly along the said westerly line of Dolores Street 130 feet, more or less, to the most easterly corner of Lot 8, Block 8, First Addition to Mission Tract, recorded in Volume 4 of Cities and Towns at Page 5, Monterey County Records; thence

(4) Continuing southerly along the westerly line of said Dolores Street 390 feet, more or less, to a point on the easterly line of Lot 15, First Addition to Mission Tract, at a point of reverse curvature; thence leaving said westerly line of Dolores Street; thence

(5) Easterly 60 feet, more or less, to a point on the easterly line of Dolores Street at the southwesterly corner of Lot 26, Third Addition to Mission Tract; thence

(6) Along the southerly line of said Lot 26, N. 83° 15' E., 148.86 feet to the southeast corner of said Lot 26; thence

(7) Along the easterly line of said Lot 26, N. 3° 05' W., 69.58 feet; thence

(8) N. 47° 05' E., 116.28 feet to the most northerly corner of Lot 14, Third Addition to Mission Tract; thence

(9) N. 59° 15' E., 158.05 feet to the southeasterly corner of Lot 30, Third Addition to Mission Tract; thence

(10) Northeasterly across an alley 10.0 feet in width (line of alley bears N. 23° 47' W.) to the southwesterly corner of Lot 31, Third Addition to Mission Tract; thence

(11) N. 67° 55' E., 270 feet, more or less, to a point on the westerly line of a 0.150 acre parcel shown on that certain Record of Survey map filed in Volume X-3 of Surveys at Page 230, Monterey County Records; thence

(12) N. 19° 21' 45" W., 20 feet, more or less, to the northwesterly corner of said 0.150 acre parcel; thence

(13) N. 71° 22' E., 130.27 feet to a point on the westerly line of Rio Road; thence

(14) Radially, northeasterly 80 feet to a point on the easterly line of Rio Road, as said easterly line of Rio Road is shown on that certain map, "Registered Civil Engineer's Map of Part of Walker Tract and Adjacent Land," etc., recorded in Volume 3 of Surveys at Page 156, Monterey County Records; thence

(15) Northerly along the easterly line of Rio Road, 340 feet, more or less, to a point at the intersection of the easterly line of Rio Road and the projection easterly of the northerly line of said Dedication Parcel "A"; thence leaving said easterly line of Rio Road; thence

(16) Westerly along the said projection easterly of the northerly line of said Dedication Parcel "A", 82 feet, more or less, to the point of beginning.

For the purpose of the special election, one voting precinct has been established in said territory. The polling place for the precinct shall be the Mahon residence, the southeast corner Santa Lucia and Franciscan Way, Carmel, California.

Said polling place will be open between the hours of 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. on the 18th day of April, 1967.

Upon the ballots to be used at said election, there shall be printed the words:

"Shall that certain territory designated as Mission Tract II be annexed to the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, and shall the property in such territory be, after such annexation, subject to taxation equally with the property within the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, to pay the entire bonded indebtedness of the city outstanding or authorized at the date of the first publication of the notice of election."

Opposite these words there shall be printed the words "YES" and "NO", and to the right of each of these last two

Valley man joins Renk Realty

Lois Renk of Carmel this week announced the association of her real estate brokerage firm with Philip Kees Davis.

Formerly vice-president of the Austin Co. with headquarters in Cleveland, for whom he traveled throughout the world, Mr. Davis now lives on White Oak Way in Carmel Valley.

He holds two engineering degrees, is a Fellow of the American Society of Civil Engineers and has engineering registrations in all 50 of the United States.

With the addition of Mr. Davis to her firm, Mrs. Renk now offers skilled professional service in investment properties from small local commercial projects to planned developments located most anywhere.

Noto permit

it was approved on appeal before the Board of Supervisors.

Then, early last year, Noto returned to the Planning Commission and asked for approval of the total 160-bed facility, providing he installed a private sewage treatment system and brought city water into the area.

This request was approved by the Planning Commission.

It was appealed to the Board of Supervisors, who reversed the PlanCom recommendation, did not give approval and set the number of beds back to 50.

In presenting his new proposal to the commission last week, Noto said that although the 160-room density would increase the number of beds, part of it might be designed as quarters for visiting family members, separate from the hospital itself.
